

Navigating the NDIS for the Psychosocial Workforce

Micro-credential Pilot

A project initiative of the NTSSS Employment Pathway Program

Project Profile:

Purpose-built workforce skills

Following the Community Mental Health Workforce Project completed in July 2021 by Queensland Alliance for Mental Health (QAMH), it was identified as critical for purpose-built training to respond to workforce gaps and needs in NDIS psychosocial personnel and the wider community mental health workforce.

An Industry-tailored solution

The Navigating the NDIS for the Psychosocial Workforce Micro-credential Pilot will be developed and delivered by TAFE Queensland in partnership with QAMH and existing workers delivering NDIS psychosocial supports. It will be available to formally and non-formally trained and qualified personnel in the sector and provides a flexible, quality vocational education and training program that can be leveraged to progress further formal qualifications.

This micro-credential will address the following knowledge areas for workers:

- An understanding of mental illness
- Recovery focussed practice in the NDIS
- Trauma-informed care

For more information contact

TAFE Queensland Project Lead Tracey Singh, tracey.singh@tafeald.edu.au

<https://workabilityqld.org.au>